1 Q Where's your support for that?

2 A Because that's the definition of the
3 record.

4 Q But you're defining the record. Do you
5 see the term "record" in the cites you have for the
6 Concord system?

7 A Well, if you have a database, then you
8 have records. A database is a system that consists 9 of collections of tables, which are just kind of 10 data structures. And each of those tables contain 11 records.

12 Q Can you store a report in a database?

13 A As a field of a record of a database, you
14 could take a PDF, I suppose.

15 Q You can't just throw a record -- I mean, a
16 report in a database?

17 A I can't just throw a report in a database.

18 Q Why not?

19 A No, no. I'm repeating the question,
20 because I'm not really grasping what you're driving
21 at.

22 Q Can you store a report in a database?
